Conference Books

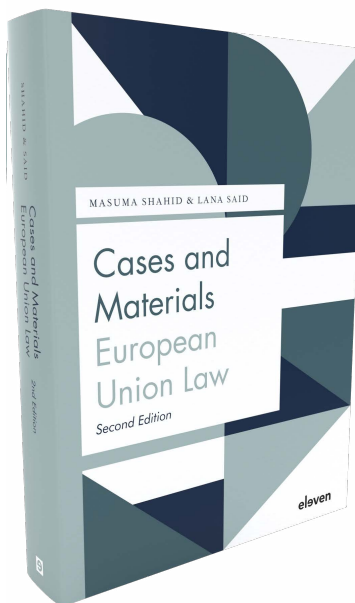

Expand your understanding of the European Union and its laws with these publications from Eleven!

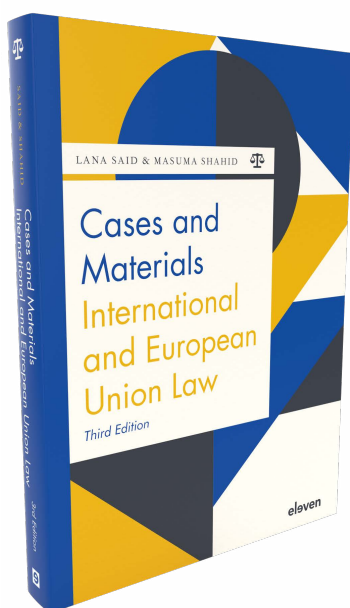

Reflections on Democracy in the European Union is a unique volume that offers an interdisciplinary approach on EU democracy, law and politics from economic, juridical and philosophical perspectives. It is divided in three parts and deals with EU's contemporary challenges, its historical development, democracy and rule of law. The volume connects the EU's present to the past in order to reflect on possible future scenario's – which is especially important in these turbulent times.

European Union Law provides a broad overview of the main aspects of the law of the European Union, while also covering the implications of the European sovereign debt crisis, Brexit, the COVID-19 pandemic, digital markets and many more current topics that shape EU law.

The Cases and Materials publications compile key cases, treaties and secondary legislatures from EU law, with quotes and summaries that allow readers to quickly comprehend the key issues of each case. Cases and Materials European Union Law focuses on fundamental freedoms, fundamental rights and competition law.

The Cases and Materials publications compile key cases, treaties and secondary legislatures from EU law, with quotes and summaries that allow readers to quickly comprehend the key issues of each case. Cases and Materials International and European Union Law focuses on international and European institutional and constitutional law.

Podcast Series: Good Neighbours?

Although the UK has left the EU, the UK and EU remain connected through two international agreements. The series asks: Do these agreements provide a firm and stable basis for UK-EU relations? How does the EU's relationship with the UK compare to its relations with other European neighbours? Where do the EU and 'Europe' feature in the UK's post-Brexit foreign policy?

In the first episode, Negotiating the future relationship: The view from Brussels, Stefaan De Rynck, former Senior Advisor to EU Chief Negotiator Michel Barnier and Dan Ferrie, European Commission Press Officer for Brexit, discuss the EU's approach to the negotiations on the UK's withdrawal.
